Trent Sharon Joins Compass Ag Solutions as Livestock Risk Protection Agent

FORT COLLINS, Colo. – Compass Ag Solutions is excited to announce the addition of Trent Sharon to their team as a Livestock Risk Protection (LRP) agent, effective June 1, 2023.

Trent was raised on his family's farm and ranching operation in southeastern Colorado where he developed a deep appreciation for hard work and a love for the cattle industry. His passion for agriculture led him to Northeastern Junior College in Sterling, Colo., and then to Colorado State University where he received a bachelor's degree in animal science. After graduation, Trent and his wife, Lindy, moved to Throckmorton, Texas, to manage the development division of the R.A. Brown Ranch. After five years in Texas, Trent moved back home to southeastern Colorado.

Shortly after returning home, Trent and Lindy started Sharon's Cattle Service which is comprised of a small backgrounding operation that specializes in starting light, high-risk calves that will graze on wheat and grass as well as a small order buying business out of La Junta, Colo. Trent and his family have been blessed with opportunities to grow their operation by running a cow-calf herd as well as turning out summer grazing cattle throughout southern Colorado. The operation would not be able to thrive without the dedicated work of the entire family.

Trent and Lindy are blessed with five boys who keep them busy as competitors in the rodeo arena as well as on the wrestling mat. Waitley, Traven, Stockton, Cayhill and McCallen all work very hard in the family business and are developing a love for the cattle industry.

In his capacity as a Compass Ag LRP agent, Trent will help cattle owners mitigate their market risk through the use of LRP – a tool that allows cattle producers to lock in a worst-case scenario price for their cattle before actually marketing them. Through his years of managing cattle for others as well as his own operation, Trent understands the hardships and risks that are involved with cattle production. He is excited to use his real-world experience and knowledge of the industry to work alongside other cattlemen to set goals and manage risk with the intention of being the best stewards of God's land and livestock.

Trent may be reached at 970-744-4750 or trent@compassagsolutions.com.
